

For Providers:

The PrEP Providers list includes HIV medical providers who have expressed interest in evaluating patients for HIV pre-exposure prophylaxis (PrEP) and whom are willing to prescribe PrEP to persons at high-risk for HIV infection. Public Health maintains this list on our website and medical providers in the community may be added to or deleted from the list at any time by sending an email to susan.buskin@kingcounty.gov.

Medical providers on the list should be willing to follow the published CDC PrEP guidelines. These guidelines include that:

- 1) PrEP is contraindicated in persons with unknown or positive HIV status or with an estimated creatinine clearance <60 mL/min;
- 2) PrEP should be targeted to adults at very high risk for HIV acquisition;
- 3) PrEP should be delivered as part of a comprehensive set of prevention services; and
- 4) PrEP should be accompanied by quarterly monitoring of HIV status, pregnancy status, side effects, medication adherence, and risk behaviors, as outlined in previous interim guidance.¹⁻³

2. CDC. Interim guidance: preexposure prophylaxis for the prevention of HIV infection in men who have sex with men. MMWR 2011;60:65–8. (Updated June 14, 2013 http://www.cdc.gov/mmwr/preview/mmwrhtml/mm6223a2.htm?s_cid=mm6223a2_w)

3. CDC. Interim guidance for clinicians considering the use of preexposure prophylaxis for the prevention of HIV infection in heterosexually active adults. MMWR 2012;61:586–9.

Public Health further recommends that medical providers discuss PrEP with all HIV-uninfected men who have sex with men being treated for rectal gonorrhea or syphilis, and that providers use either a 4th generation HIV EIA or an HIV RNA test when testing persons prior to PrEP initiation or as part of PrEP monitoring. Thank you for your ongoing efforts to prevent HIV in our community.

This PrEPline is part of the UCSF Clinical Consultation Center service started in September 2014 and is open 8am to 3pm (Pacific). They offer free, expert advice to clinicians across the country on PrEP.

The Clinician Consultation Center is part of the US Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA) AIDS Education and Training Centers (AETCs) Program. The new PrEPline was made possible through supplemental funding from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) to this HRSA program that provides education and training to clinicians nationally. Consultation services are provided by UCSF physicians, nurses, and clinical pharmacists. The CCC has provided nearly 400,000 consultations to clinicians on preventing and managing HIV/AIDS since its inception in 1993.
